JOYS OF THE SIGHTLESS.

The Blind Take More Pleasure In Travel Than Many Suppose.

A blind man was making a tour of the New England coast on his vacation. In Maine, in the pretty village of Castine, a lady said as she waited with him at the pier:

"What pleasure is there in travel for a blind man?"

"More pleasure than you think," he replied. "I enjoy this fine, invigorating wind from the sea as well as you do. The noise of the water is as pleasant to me as to you, and the warmth of the sunshine is as agreeable, and when we get aboard the boat do you think I shan't appreciate the swift sail seaward?

"The blind are not so blind as the world imagines. When I walk the streets I know the shops I am passing by their odors. Meat, perfumes, tobacco, leather and flowers tell me as well as eyes would that a butcher's, a tobacconist's, a shoemaker's or a florist's is near.

"So it is in the country. A spicy smell tells me I am in a grove of pines. The sweet breath of new mown hay floats from the meadows, and in fancy I see the haymakers. The wild blackberries have their pungent odor, and it is easy to know the presence of the wild honeysuckle. The lowing cows, the neigh of a horse, the bleating of sheep tell me the occupants of the field I pass, and the gurgle of water assures me that in that field is a running brook.

"Do you wonder how a blind man makes his way in a crowded street? I will tell you. He walks fearlessly as long as he hears nothing, but when the sound of approaching footsteps reaches him he turns a little to the right and passes by without delay and without collision. Farther on he meets children. Children are easy to recognize by their noisy prattle and their light, quick, irregular steps. And the blind man, knowing that it is difficult to count with any degree of certainty upon the actions of these little people, goes very prudently, creeping along at a snail's pace until the children are passed.

"He knows a street crossing by the increased violence of the wind, the louder noises and the gradual descent of the pavement for some forty or fifty feet. He knows when he draws near a wall or big stationary object by the different sound his steps have and by the different feel to his flesh of the air, which is much more compressed.

"A blind man gets along better on a dark night than at any other time, for then all the world goes cautiously and slowly, and there is little danger of being run over or run down."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Study of the Wild.

There is no more healthful and instructive recreation for the intelligent boy (or man, either, for that matter) than that which is easily obtainable by studying the ways of the wild things that inhabit the swamps, woods and forests in the vicinity of the town in which he lives. It is good for brain, nerves, eyes and muscles. It is good for the disposition, too, for the more you know of any living creatures (except beasts of prey, rattlesnakes and such) the less inclined to do them an injury. Ignorance is the parent of cruelty. One need not seek the great forests of the north and west to study wild things and their ways. The habits of many interesting birds and smaller wild animals may be studied at the expense of a not very long walk by the dwellers in most country towns all over the United States and Canada. —Field and Stream.

Beyond Speech.

The conversation of pigs is not usually considered a matter of serious import, yet by it Uncle David gauged the physical condition of his porkers. Uncle David was a native of old Saco, Me. Some of his peculiarities are recorded by Mr. Redlon in his book on the town.

The old man raised pigs for the market. At one time a scourge devastated his sties. During this affliction a neighbor, meeting him and seeing his doleful countenance, inquired sympathetically for his stock.

"Well, Uncle David," he said cheerily, "how is the litter getting on?"

"Getting on!" replied Uncle David mournfully. "Getting on! They are all dead but two, and they are speechless!"

Cheap Brains.

One day as John W. Mugridge, the lawyer, and Judge Minot were walking along the street in Concord, N. H., together, Mr. Mugridge, in his sepulchral voice, said: "Judge, let's go into partnership. You furnish the capital and I'll furnish the brains." The judge quickly pulled a two cent piece from his pocket and, holding it in the palm of his hand, said to Mugridge: "Very well Cover that, John! Cover that!"

HE TURNED THE LAUGH.

A Quick Witted Orator Who Was Equal to the Occasion.

An orator who was equal to an emergency was the late George A. Sheridan, who was a noted "spellbinder" often engaged by the Republican national committee. At a big meeting he was addressing in a town near New York he was introduced by a Mr. O'Brien, the chairman, in most flattering terms. In order to reciprocate Mr. Sheridan paid a glowing tribute to the sterling qualities of the chairman and wound up the eulogy by asserting that no man could say Mr. O'Brien owed him a cent.

"He owes me $3!" came a keen Celtic voice from the rear of the audience.

It was almost a solar plexus blow for the orator, and the audience started to laugh and jeer. Rallying, the speaker said: "Don't be alarmed, good friends. I will answer that man presently." This assertion was to gain time and if possible have the audience forget the incident. But again that penetrating voice cried out:

"He owes me $3 cold cash!"

Advancing to the edge of the platform, General Sheridan in a confidential tone said: "Yes. I know all about the $3, for my friend, Mr. O'Brien, has given me the inside facts. Ladies and gentlemen, the truth is simply this, and it reveals a peculiar character: This man who has interrupted me met Mr. O'Brien recently and asked him for the loan of $10. 'I haven't got ten,' said generous Mr. O'Brien, 'but here are $7,' handing the money to him. Now this man is going around saying my friend, the honorable chairman, owes him $3 because he could lend him only $7 when ten were requested." A roar of laughter filled the hall, and the indignant man tried to answer the orator. He was howled down. The chairman whispered in General Sheridan's ear: "You have saved me. You are a genius."—Leslie's Weekly.

The Reformed Gambler.

A reformed gambler from Ohio went to Washington when Hoke Smith was secretary of the interior and, saying that he had forsaken games of chance, sought employment. A friend introduced him to Hoke Smith, stating his case. Mr. Smith listened attentively and then said:

"I will do what I can. I will look into the vacancies and see if I can place him. I would like to give him a chance very much."

All this time the reformed gambler had been standing quietly, eying the secretary. After Smith had finished he stepped forward and said:

"Now, see here, Hoke, old boy. Tell me if this is right. If you kin give me a job lemme know, but if you can't lemme know, too, for I can't afford no time to be stayin' here in this sort of way dubbin' around on a dead card."

Oak and Mistletoe.

A reviewer in the Outlook rebukes an American writer for wondering whether there is any "natural connection" between the oak and the mistletoe, seeing how constantly they are associated. "In Great Britain," says the reviewer, "the oak is one of the trees on which the mistletoe notoriously does not grow." And it is true that the English child learns in an early lesson of the honor in which the Druids held a mistletoe that by rare chance did grow on an oak. But the reviewed book, being American, is amply justified. The hills that surround the Lick observatory in California and that bear its domes on their highest summit are entirely covered with oaks, and it is not too much to say that every oak carries a bunch or bunches of mistletoe.—London Chronicle.

She Knew About Peter.

A visiting pastor was examining the Sunday school of a Germantown church a few Sundays ago and had asked the class just in front of him if any member of it could tell anything about the Apostle Peter. A little girl with a precocious face raised her hand. "Come up here, my little lady," said the minister. "I am much gratified to see that you have remembered your lesson. Now tell the school what you know about Peter." The little tot was quite willing to show off her knowledge and commenced, "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater, had a wife and couldn't keep her; put her in a"—The school never heard where he put her on account of the general uproar.—Philadelphia Record.

Pelted With Flowers.

"Was your wife angry when you got home so late last night?"

"Angry! Why, my boy, the dear woman pelted me with flowers!"

"But how did you get that black eye?"

"Well, you see, she neglected to take the flowers out of the pots before she threw them." — London Telegraph.

SHODDY LEATHER.

"It's a fierce age, this," sighed the shoemaker. "They are making shoddy leather now. It's worse than shoddy wool. They buy up all the old boots and shoes, and they throw them into a big machine and grind them into a coarse powder. Whir-r-r goes the machine, and in at one end fly the old shoes, while out at the other gushes a chocolate colored dust. This dust they mix with about 40 per cent of melted india rubber, and the mixture they press out as thin as pie crust under huge rollers, applying a pressure of 10,000 pounds to the square foot. They color it afterward and put it on the market. It is used in cheap shoes. The men who half sole and heel you for a quarter employ a lot of it. Shoddy leather—wonderful stuff. Wear? How does it wear? Why, man alive, nobody wants it to wear. The idea is to make you use it up as quick as possible and then come back again for more."

Too Good a Citizen.

A sad wife writes complainingly to the editor of the household department of a popular magazine that her husband is altogether too good a citizen and wants to know if there is any cure for it. By degrees the county, the town, the church, the poor and the Young Men's Christian association have encroached upon his hours out of business until now she sometimes feels that she needs an introduction to him. He is busy every evening, being a model citizen. There is always a committee meeting on tap of tenement house commission, charity organization or school board, and on Sunday he goes to church, superintends the Sunday school and teaches the Bible class. The correspondent asks plaintively if anything can be done for a man like that.

Elementary Life Cells.

Professor Ledna of the Nantes Medical school asserts that he is able to produce elementary life cells. He styles them "living cells," because when placed in suitable conditions they increase and multiply. The professor's researches began with the lowest forms of inorganic matter contained in fluids and after observing their maternal powers of reproducing their own tissues set himself to work to try to reproduce the process. This he says he has succeeded in doing. A professor of botany to whom the process was exhibited is said to have taken the artificially produced cells for those of real vegetation. Professor Ledna has not attempted to bring his cells into tissue or to give them roots.

The Kaiser's Campfire.

During the German army maneuvers the kaiser's temporary quarters consist of a camp house of wood. In addition to sleeping and bath rooms, the kaiser has a large working room, which serves also as dining and reception room. Several smaller apartments complete this improvised house, from which the imperial standard floats. When evening falls a huge fire is kindled before his majesty's door. This is kept burning all night, and the kaiser likes to sit beside it and talk to his friends. On these occasions all ceremony is forgotten. Another of his majesty's evening pleasures is to walk round among the soldiers' bivouacs and witness their rough camp joking and games.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress, slow down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

Gubernatorial Contest Is Drawing to a Close.

THE Gubernatorial contest is drawing to a close. The election takes place next Tuesday and after the votes are counted the political agony will be over. One of the peculiarities of this contest over the Governorship is the charges and counter charges being made by the adherants of the several nominees in this triangular fight of collusion with the Southern Pacific Company, the go-betweens being Herrin and Abe Reuf. In other words, Gillett the Republican, Bell the Democrat and Langdon the Independence League nominee, have each been "fixed" in turn by the "octopus."

Now, honestly we do not believe that either of the three aspirants for Gubernatorial honors is being backed up in their aspirations by the railroad people. It is about an even thing they don t care "shucks" who is our next Governor, for if there is any "fixing" to be done it it is cheaper to fix the successful candidate after election than put up for a nominee and take chances of his being defeated, in which case the "railroad sack" would have te be drawn on again to fix the other fellow. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that all this railroad talk is "hot air" that has been interjected into the campaign for political effect.

Another thing that points to the above conclusion is the lack of funds in this campaign. If the railroad people are putting up why is it there are no funds in the hands of the Republican and Democratic County and State Central Committees to pay for halls, music, bonfires and powder? Were it not for local patriotism and local funds we would have none of these things in this campaign, which will soon be a thing of the past to be referred to in the future as one of the most poverty-stricken on record. In previous years there has never been a lack of funds to pay for these essentials to a successful campaign. This we take it is conclusive evidence that the railroad people are not worrying themselves as to who will be our next Governor. This being the case, we can see no reason why Mr. Gillett, the Republican nominee, should not receive the support of his party if we except a few soreheads who are disgruntled because things didn't happen to go just their way at the Santa Cruz convention.

Support the New Court House Bond Issue.

The proposition to bond the county for $280,000 for a New Court House and Hall of Records will be submitted to the voters next Tuesday. As has already been set forth in these columns everybody is agreed that these public buildings we must have. The Board of Supervisors after much careful deliberation has adopted the proper course to raise the necessary revenue to pay the cost of construction by the proposed bond issue. It is the best way and as a matter of fact the only business-like way of giving the taxpayers buildings that must be constructed for the transaction of the business of the county. The bond plan will keep taxes down and encourage home-seekers to locate among us, while a direct tax would send taxes soaring skyward and retard the growth of a county which with proper management is destined to become in a decade or two one of the greatest and richest counties in all California. So let us make no mistake next Tuesday and cast our ballots for the bond issue as being the only way of securing the New Court House and Hall of Records without a direct tax on our people, which the Board of Supervisors will be compelled to resort to under the law in case the bond proposition be defeated. These buildings are a public necessity, and a crying one, too, and if the revenue for their construction cannot be raised the one way it must be by the other. There are no two questions about that. The only question at issue is the proper way. By the bond plan it will cost but 5 cents on the $100 of valuation for a series of years. By a direct tax 45 cents on the $100 will have to be footed by property-owners for two running years, a tax that would work a hardship on the rich and poor alike. That the bond way is the best way can readily be seen when presented in this manner.

The Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce, whose members embrace many of the heaviest taxpayers in Sonoma county, has taken this view of the matter by issuing a circular letter to the voters of the county endorsing the bond issue. This body of Sonoma county's most substantial citizens in the concluding paragraph of its plea to the voters to support the bond issue says: "The defeat of the bonds at this time would result in delay to reconstruction and further endanger the valuable records of all the property-owners in Sonoma county regardless of where each resides. The county records are altogether too valuable and important to be kept in the present fire-traps any longer than is absolutely necessary."

VOTERS, cast your ballots in favor of the bond proposition and you will be doing your duty as thoughtful, progressive and conservative citizens.

Neither Manly Nor Fair.

DR. ANDERSON of Petaluma, in the presence of De Witt Montgomery, the Republican nominee for Superintendent of Schools, recently made the assertion on the streets of Sebastopol that the present Superintendent of Schools collected a fee for issuing teachers' certificates and that the law does not provide that a fee shall be collected. That there was no fund into which such fee could be paid. Therefore, the Superintendent of Schools must be putting the money into her own pocket.

Section 1565 of the Political Code of California provides that "every applicant for a teachers' certificate, or for the renewal of a certificate, upon presenting his application, shall pay to the County Superintendent a fee of two dollars, to be by him immediately deposited with the County Treasurer, to the credit of a fund to be known as the Teachers' Institute and Library Fund." Said section further provides how the money shall be expended. Section 1696 of the Pol. Code provides that before assuming charge of a school, the teacher must file his certificate with the County Superintendent of Schools, unless he is a holder of a California State Normal diploma, accompanied by the certificate of the State Board of Education, etc. Sub division third of Section 1503 provides that the certificate of the State Board shall be granted to the holder of a State Normal diploma upon the recommendation of the County Board of Education after the applicant has had two years successful experience in teaching subsequent to his graduation from the Normal School. The only teachers who are exempt from paying the fee for county certificates are the holders of Educational and Life Diplomas and the holders of Normal Documents as provided in Sec. 1696. The records of the Superintendent's office and the Auditor's office show when the money was deposited and when and how it was expended. Did Mr. Montgomery know the law? If not he is not fit to be Superintendent, for he himself had to pay the fee when he obtained his certificate. If he knew the facts and permitted Dr. Anderson to misrepresent them in his presence, he certainly is neither manly nor fair. Do we want such a man in the office of Superintendent of Schools?

A Competent Official Who Should be Re-elected

Chas. A. Pool, the Democratic nominee for County Auditor, who has held the office for one term, is deserving of re-election at the hands of the taxpayers of Sonoma county, regardless of party affiliations. Since assuming the duties of the office four years ago he has served the people faithfully and well. As Auditor all bills against the county must pass through his hands and be it said to his credit he has been a veritable watch dog of the treasury of Sonoma county. It is an unwritten law in this county when an official has served one term he is entitled to another term if he has been found honest and capable. As Mr. Pool has exhibited these qualifications to a remarkable degree he is deserving of re-election and if you cast your vote for him you will make no mistake.

Consumption

¶ There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

¶ From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continuous.

¶ We will send you a sample free.

¶ Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with local applications, as they cannto reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a patent medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

CONTEST OVER THE GLAISTER ESTATE,

Grandsons of Deceased To Combat Settlement of Account.

The matter of the settlement of the account in the estate of the late Thomas Skelton Glaister has been hanging fire in the Superior Court of this county for several months.

The deceased was run down and fatally injured on the Napa road by an automobile a few years ago. He left an estate valued at $10,000 or $15,000. The heirs mentioned in his will were a daughter, Mrs Blanche Wagner, and his grandsons, Skelton and Middleton P. Glaister. Mrs. Wagner applied for and was granted letters of administration on the estate and proceeded to wind up the affairs of the same. When the final account was filed the grandsons objected to a number of items, claiming that they were not getting their just share of the estate.

The difference involved is said to be $500. The suit promises to be a bitterly contested one and a good thing for the lawyers.

The hearing of the case has been set by Judge Seawell for Monday, November 26th

Johnson Estate Sale.

The sale of the Kate Johnson estate ranch, known as Buena Vista, at public auction, took place here last Saturday, subject to confirmation by the Superior Court of San Francisco. For the most part the property was knocked down to Emile Cailleau, a San Francisco capitalist, who secured fourteen of the sixteen parcels on the catalogue. The price bid varied between $3.75 to $70 per acre.

G. S Harris bought parcels one and six, comprising 15 and 31 acres respectively, paying $70 per acre for the one and $65 per acre for the other. There were no other successful bidders.

"The Castle" and 38 acres of highly improved land surrounding it were not included in the sale.

It is the intention of Mr. Cailleau to take up his residence in "The Castle" the coming winter. He has a wife and large family of children.

Jos. B. Small for Justice of the Peace.

Jos. B. Small, for many years Justice of the Peace of Sonoma Township, has again been nominated by his party for the office. He is a Democrat and owing to his ability and fairness as a Judge, has as many supporters among the Republicans of Sonoma Township as he has among his own party. So great has been his popularity that for years such a thing as an opponent has never entered the minds of the Republicans of Sonoma of pitting a candidate against him.

So it is in this campaign. But for all that he has an opponent whose name has been placed in the Republican column of the official ballot by a spiteful and disgruntled pinto Democrat, who took it upon himself to telephone to W. W. Felt of Santa Rosa, Secretary of the Republican County Central Committee, that "We" want Mr. Gottenberg's name placed on the ballot as the Republican nominee for Justice of the Peace of Sonoma Township.

It was a campaign trick that worked all right in so far as having Mr. Gottenberg's name appear among the Republican nominees on the ballot, but the Republicans will have none of it, and when it comes to counting the votes after election it will be found that deceitful, spiteful and underhanded politics of that sort cannot be exploited in this community without being severely rebuked by voters of all shades of political opinion.

The Republican County Nominees.

The Republican county nominees held forth in Union Hall on Friday night of last week to a house packed almost to suffocation. The hall was beautifully decorated and brilliantly lighted which, with the music and the ladies present, made the scene an animated one even to the old campaigners among the nominees.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one and the candidates were given a hearty welcome. Addresses were delivered by Walter F. Price, nominee for State Senator; H. W. A. Weske, candidate for the Assembly; Jack Smith, our next Sheriff; Glenn E. Murdock, nominee for Treasurer; Fred. G. Nagle, for Recorder; Chas. A. Pond, for District Attorney; M. D. Hopkins, for Assessor, and the other nominees, several of whom will receive big majorities in Sonoma, which is the banner Republican precinct of Sonoma county.

The Republican Nominee For County Assessor

M. D. Hopkins, the Republican nominee for County Assessor, was in town several days last week. Mr. Hopkins is a resident of Petaluma whers he enjoys the confidence and esteem of its citizens of all shades of political opinion. That he is deservedly popular and a competent official no better evidence is wanting than the fact that for twelve years he has held the office of City Assessor of Petaluma, an office which he has filled with fairness and ability. It was through Mr. Hopkins that the Legislature some years ago passed a bill exempting from tax the sum of $100 of household furniture, which applies to all classes alike but more particularly to the poor man whose entire worldly possessions in many cases consists only of the furniture in a house for which he pays rent. Mr Hopkins has lived in Sonoma county for forty-five years and no man has a better knowledge of its land values and with his experience as the city assessor of Petaluma no one is better qualified for the office he now seeks. He is a staunch Republican and should receive the hearty support his party.

A Divorced Woman, Not a Widow.

It has been ascertained from an examination of the records in the Superior Court of this county that Mrs. Beatrice Tenny, former wife of John M. Tenny, the motorman who was killed by a thug in Oakland some time ago, cannot lay claim to Tenny's five thousand dollar estate on the ground that she was the wife of the deceased, says the Press Democrat The other day when the probate of the estate was commenced in the Superior Court of Alameda county, Mrs. Tenny asked for letters of administration. It was then hinted that there would be a contest of her petition. It was claimed at that time that she had only been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce but the records show that a final decree has been entered up.

Death of J. A. Lyon.

J. A. Lyon, well-known to many of the residents of Sonoma and vicinity, died at his home in Honolulu on Friday of last week. The deceased was for many years engaged in the real estate business in Oakland and San Francisco but just after the Spanish-American war located in Honolulu where he engaged in merchandising. His wife, a daughter of the late P. D. F. Ewell, a pioneer resident of Sonoma, and three childern survive him.

EMILE CORNELIUS VS. YOUNG DOYLE.

Much-Talked-of Boxing Contest to Come off November 17th.

Owing to unforseen circumstances the big boxing contest between Emile Cornelius of this place and Young Doyle of San Francisco has been postponed until Saturday night, November 17th. The contest will be a ten-round affair and will take place in O'Rourke's pavilion. There will be three preliminaries before the main event, which promises to be the most exciting ever called off by the Sonoma Athletic Club. Cornelius, who has never yet been defeated, will be called upon in the coming encounter to defend his title of champion of Sonoma against an experienced and clever man who has been pitted against him for the purpose of turning the tables on him and putting him to sleep. Cornelius, however, has the punch and in the opinion of his friends and backers it will be the same old story of a knock-out in the first, second or third rounds.

Democrats Welcomed in Old Sonoma

The Democratic county nominees were accorded a right royal welcome in Union Hall last Monday evening, the occasion being the first Democratic meeting of the campaign in this place. The hall, which had been handsomely decorated by the ladies, was crowded to the doors, the fair sex in picture hats being very much in evidence. The meeting was presided over with dignity and ability by Fred. T. Duhring. All the legislative and county nominees were present except Miss Minnie Coulter, the popular candidate for School Superintendent, who was absent owing to the death of her father. Among those who made a favorable impression were Chas. O. Dunbar, nominee for State Senator; W. F. Wines for Tax Collector; Fred L. Wright for County Clerk; Chas. A. Pool for Auditor; Frank E. Dowd for Assessor and Jos. D. Cox for Surveyor.

We acknowledge with thanks an invitation to attend a reception given by the Women's Improvement Club of Glen Ellen at the home of the President Mrs. Charles Carroll O'Donnell, which took place last evening.

Republicans are for Joe. B. Small

The Republicans of Sonoma Township take it that they can run their own party without the the interference of a man who never voted at a Republican primary in his life and that is why they are supporting Mr. Small for Justice of the Peace and will give him their votes next Tuesday.

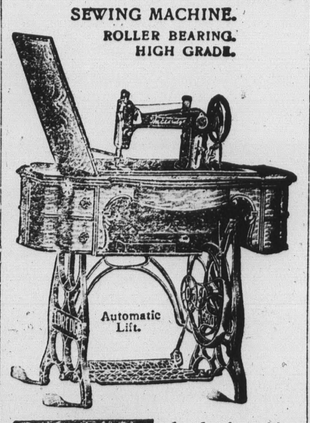

A Year of Blood.

The Bond Issue.

Editor Index-Tribune—Dear Sir:

We will vote "for" or "against" the issue of $280,000 in bonds for the New County Court House next Tuesday. I think all who vote either way on that proposition should vote with a full knowledge of the whole subject. Farmers, I am sorry to say, do not always get things as correctly as they should. How many of your readers know that before this building is paid for they will have had to pay more in interest than the original estimate of the cost of the building calls for. But such is a fact.

The particulars of the bond issue are as follows:

For the first five years the interest will be $63,000. Then for six years the principal is reduced to $6000 per year or $36,000, leaving $244,000 to draw interest for ten years to the amount of $98,000. Then for the next ten years the principal is again reduced $10,000 per year, or $100,000, leaving $144,000, the interest being $64,800. At the end of another term of ten years the balance of $144,000 would be cleaned off the slate and $58,300 more interest would have to be paid.

Total interest paid	$248 900
Cost of work and material	280,000
Total cost	$564,900

Now, that is the cost if they keep within the figures, but if they exceed the estimates the rate will be the same—that is to say, if the building costs $500,000 the taxpayers are in for $1,000,000.

A building for $150,000 could be paid for in a few years (the old one cost $100,000), the interest costing from $20,000 to $60,000. If the total cost was $210,000 for building and interest the saving to taxpayers would be $354,000 and the rate of about $1.90 on the $100 valuation could pay this in a few years.

Please consider this: If a large building is once started the taxpayers of this county will have no chance to protest against the cost. The work will have to go ahead. I do not think the plan of having the records of the county kept in the Court House a good one on account of the dangor from fire. I think, however, they could be kept in the Court House for some years until a Hall of Records could be built. I am for a low tax rate to attract home-seekers. FARMER.

Glen Ellen, Nov. 1, 1906.

[We refer "Farmer" and all our readers who favor a low tax rate in this county to our editorial page which discusses the raising of revenue for the projected new county buildings.—Editor.]

In Time of Peace

In the first few months of the Russia-Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use

Miss Coulter and the School Superintendency.

Miss Minnie Coulter (incumbent) is again the nominee of her party for re-election to the important office of Superintendent of Schools of Sonoma county. For eight years she has looked after the interests of our public schools with marked ability and has brought them up to a high state of efficiency, so much so, that her reputation as an educator is not local by any means, but has won her recognition all over the State. It is no idle boast to proclaim that she has made one of the best School Superintendents Sonoma county has ever had. As an evidence of her worth the voters four years ago gave her another term by one of the biggest majorities ever received by a county official and that, too, in a county that is always safe for the head of the Republican ticket.

Miss Coulter, owing to her past record as School Superintendent, which is a most commendable one, ought to and will receive the support of every citizen who has the best interests of our public school system in mind. Throw politics to the winds when voting for School Superintendent and cast your vote for Miss Coulter. If you do this you will make no mistake and will score in favor of education in Sonoma county.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Ex-Side Show Strong Arm Lady Has a New and Ideal Job.

A woman who might have been Mrs. Sandow answered the bell. The census enumerator took the name and then asked for the occupation.

"I'm a strong arm woman," said Mrs. Sandow.

"What's that?"

"It's like this," she said: "I used to be in a side show. One day a smart lookin' lady slipped up to me an' says, 'What do you get?' I says, 'Ten an' foun',' 'We'll give you twenty,' she says.

"Well, I left the show an' went with her. I found she was the president of a woman's club. She took me to a meetin', an' I got my orders before the whole boonch.

"'Mary,' said the president, 'ev'ry Monday mornin' we hev bargain sales at the big department stores. We all like bargains, but the ladies of the club don't stand no show. They are lightweights. They can't get in.

"'Now, Mary,' she said, 'you're a strong woman. You could fell an ox with a blow of your fist. What we want you to do is to take a list once a week of the things we want to buy. Go downtown with it on Monday mornin' and get the goods.'

Her Only Worry.

"But," asked Mrs. Nervis, "don't you ever worry when you're having a dress made?"

"No, indeed," replied Mrs. Spenders. "I only worry when I'm not having one made."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Shifting the Blame.

Hyker—Which would you rather be, a fool or a poet?

Pyker—Oh, there isn't much choice. Both are born, you know, so it is easy to shift the blame on one's ancestors.—Houston Post.

Not Up to Date.

Tom (sadly)—When I proposed to her she gave me the horse laugh.

Jack—How very old fashioned! She should have given you the automobile giggle.—Boston Transcript.

Colors That Cure Consumption.

The value of light as an agent in curing diseases is becoming increasingly recognized. The latest development of the idea is the assertion of a medical man that the clothes worn by consumptives should be of a color which will allow the light to penetrate the body. White materials, it is found, are the best for this purpose, and consumptives are consequently advised to clothe themselves in snowy raiment, either of linen, velvet, cotton or cloth. Silk, however, is barred.—Chicago Journal.

Kubelik's First Fee.

Herr Kubelik, among the greatest of "magicians of the violin," owes his brilliant career almost entirely to his peasant father, who, although self instructed, not only taught all his sons to play on every instrument, but by incessant toil gave them the best available musical training. The parent never lived to see his son's triumph, and by a curiously pathetic irony of fate the very first fee the young violinist received was spent on a wreath for his father's grave.

A Libel on Chicago.

I have been in some tough places in my time, but Chicago beats anything I have ever met. To go around in comfort you must carry a gun, and you must carry that gun in your right jacket pocket, with the business end facing the genial stranger who at any moment may endeavor to make an abrupt acquaintance with you.—London Mail.

Be Charitable

to your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Roberts, Bakersfield, Mo. writes, "I have used your liniment for ten years and find it the best I have ever used for man or beast."

WATERMARKS IN PAPER.

The Ancient Devices Used In the Time of Caxton and Faust.

Watermarks have proved themselves invaluable for safeguarding against the forgery of bank notes, bills, stamps, etc., though the difficulty experienced by the Bank of England in evolving a mark defying imitation was very great and was accomplished by the execution of forgeries innumerable.

Many a will has been set aside owing to false dates in watermarks, for, thanks to watermarks, we are under no uncertainty respecting the date of the existence of the paper. Ireland's celebrated Shakespearean forgeries were, however, perpetrated with skillful recognition of the watermark difficulty.

Driven to the production of manuscripts, he set to work to purchase old volumes for their fly leaves, and, hearing that the "jug" was the prevalent watermark of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, he selected such as had the "jug" on, being careful to mingle with them a certain number of blank leaves, in order that the production on a sudden of so many identical watermarks might not arouse suspicion.

Two of the earliest watermarks consist of a circle surmounted by a cross, representing the pastoral benediction of a priest. Post paper takes its name from the post horn, which mark appears on a shield, and in the seventeenth century is surmounted by a ducal coronet, in which form it is still met with on our ordinary note paper.

The ox's head was another ancient watermark, on which Caxton and Faust printed some of their books, but Caxton used a watermark in the form of the letter "P" for the "Game and Plays of the Chesse," first printed in 1474.

The first edition of Shakespeare, printed by Isaac Jaggard and Edward Blount in 1623, will, however, be found to be mostly on paper bearing a cap like a jockey's as a watermark, and the general use of the term "cap" for various modern papers is owing to marks of this kind.—London Globe.

Sells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than all Others Put Together.

The following letter from a locality where Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is well known shows by the unprecedented demand for it that the medicine sells on its own merit. Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mt. Elgin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I sell as much of it as I do of all other lines I have on my shelves all put together. Of the many dozens sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself and given it to my children and always with the best results."

An Anxious Boy.

While Archbishop Trench was dean of Westminster he delegated Canon Cureton to preach at the abbey on a certain saint's day. On such days the boys of Westminster school attended service and afterward had the rest of the day as a holiday. While Mr. Cureton, on the morning of the day he was to officiate, was looking over his sermon at the breakfast table his son asked, in a tone vibrating with anxiety:

"Father, is yours a long sermon today?"

"No, Jimmy, not very."

"But how long? Please tell me."

"Well, about twenty minutes, I should say. But why are you so anxious to know?"

"Because, father, the boys say they will thrash me awfully if you are more than half an hour."—London Telegraph.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say—he never was sick since useing Ballard's Horehoun Syrup. Such a man exists.

Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough would leave me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballards Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." For sale at Simmons Drug Store.

Origin of Ice Cream.

Though the ancient Greeks and Romans used ice for table purposes to get through even hotter weather than we have been having lately, they knew nothing of the "ices." These were introduced into France from Italy about 1660 and known at first as "fromages glaces"—iced cheeses—although they were made of strawberries, apricots, and so forth, and contained not a drop of cream. From 1762 the use of "glaces" in the plural was sanctioned by the academy, but not before 1825 did "une glace" force its way into recognized acceptance. "Ices" are referred to from time to time in the eighteenth century in English people's letters from abroad. "Iced creams," however, were known as early as the year when William of Orange came over, and by the middle of the eighteenth century "ice cream" figured in cookery books.—London Chronicle.

Mirrors.

The earliest looking glasses, or mirrors, were of either metal, highly polished, or of black painted mica. It is noted in Jewish history that the laver was made of brass "of the looking glasses of the women assembling, which assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation," and some commentators conjecture that these women gave up their bronze or copper hand mirrors to supply the material for the laver. Egyptian women always carried their mirrors to the temples, and the Hebrew women probably did likewise, as do the Arabian and Turkish women today. Glass mirrors are of comparatively recent date. Mirrors of silver and gold were commonly used in mediaeval times. In 1360 Venice became the seat of the manufacture of glass mirrors, which have since superseded all other varieties, the improvements in the manufacture of plate glass enabling mirrors to be made of great size.

Look out for that "rainy day!"

It comes sooner or later for so many—we can't tell to-day who may want on the morrow.

Prepare now while you are able for any misfortune that may overtake you. Don't run any risks.

Here is something that will help you provide for the rainy day—an investment that carries with it unusual benefits and proves its value from the minute you buy the stock.

Smith's Cash Store is well and favorably known all over the West. Its reputation is of the best and in volume of business it is making tremendous strides forward every year. Some five years ago the stock was selling for $5.00 a share. Today the price is $10.00 a share. These figures demonstrate what a thriving institution is this biggest Mail Order House on the Pacific Coast.

Each share of stock is guaranteed to earn 6 per cent a year. But the greatest benefit is derived by the stockholder from the discounts given to the holders of five or more shares of stock. You can buy anything to eat, use or wear at the same price the goods would cost your local dealers. We call them "Owner's Prices."

Suppose you buy goods that altogether cost $50 at our wholesale rate. If you are a stockholder you get a discount amounting to $2.50, and your bill is only $47.50. The saving you will make in one year in addition to the earnings will in all probability more than cover the investment.

Year after year you will be effecting big savings. But should hard times knock at your door—and you must not be too sure that something of that sort will not happen—think what it will mean to you to be able to buy everything at cost prices. It might be the very thing that would help you to survive the period of distress.

We are increasing the amount of our capital stock. We are telling you about the stock because we think you ought to invest for your own sake. You couldn't buy stock in any other concern that would pay you so well.

It will not be long before the price of the stock is advanced. You know that means there are not many days remaining in which you can take advantage of this great offer.

For your convenience we are printing a coupon which you ought to fill out—it does not obligate you in any way. Send it at once.
